circulated that Garrison was a Socinian and "in that place nothing... could have murdered his influence more than this." The writer reports on meetings of committees of the men's and women's (Edinburgh) societies, where Stuart, representing the opposition, and Thompson, Charles L. «Norwich, England» The writer "would as soon go among the Southern slave holders to solicit aid, as among the abolitionists of Great Britain." Says J. G. Birney, H. B. Stanton and others prejudice the minds of the leading English Abolitionists so that "we are shunned by them as we should be ... by the rankest pro-slavery men of our own country." The writer has received from Elizabeth Pease extracts from letters written to one or more British abolitionists, one of these extracts having been taken from a letter by N. Colver. The writer copies these extracts, which are derogatory to Garrison, and throw suspicion on Collins. [illegible] writer suggests to the addressee that he "let Colver re[illegible]hese extracts in the Liberator" and that he send letters to prominent British Abolition-

«New Hartford, N.Y.» The writer must either desist from labor or cease to live. Reports that the conventions were mostly well attended. George Bradburn "felt quite grouty unless all creation turned out to hear him." Relates the incident at Syracuse. The three days' convention was large and interesting. A property meeting was held a day after the anti-slavery convention was adjourned. Abby Kelley was there. "She is intolerant beyond degree." Miss Kelley brought C.L.Remond and Frederick Douglass into a frenzied state against the writer's course. Describes their furious tirades after the writer had made a brief address. The writer defended himself at the meeting, explaining the attitude of the Board, which had a "broad, liberal, and catholic spirit," and he "endeavored to apologize for Douglass and Remond." If their continuing their agencies depended on the writer's resignation, the society would be deprived of their services. "With scarcely an exception, their course was condemned." If the writer had been in good health, the little flare-up would not have occurred. Before reaching Syracuse, the writer had decided that duty to his health and to the cause "required cessation from labor." To John Anderson Collins

«Utica, N.Y.» Expresses anxiety over his health; worries about funds for American Anti-Slavery Society. Recommends ways of disposing of money collected. Emphasizes need of his services here, unless needed to go to rescue of American Society. Mrs. (Francis) Wright- "bold as a lion for the truth" -accompanies the writer. A.L.S. 2 p. 10 x 8 in. «With the writer's letter to Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman.

Bath, William Pulteney, earl of, 1684-1764.

To Colman, British envoy at Florence, Italy.

[London.] Has received the marble tables and bronze statues which he sent, and Methuen also has received the pictures. Has called on Riccardi's son,,but found him too ill to take part in civilities. Wishes he might have been more successful in procuring for him a better position but thinks it unlikely that much can be done while he is still so young. Lord Scarbo thinks the position as Envoy to Turin might be secured but Saphorin declares that it is far too dangerous a station. Thinks it possible that Mrs. Colman might join him in Italy soon; her tought of the expense being the only factor that hinders her. Has shown the Damask to Mrs. Pultney and will ask him to exchange it for some from Genoa. Major-general Dormer is returned from Lisb[illegible]th a great story concerning Mr. Burnet. Foster, Abby (Kelley) 1811-1887.

To Anne Warren Weston

«East Hampton, Conn.» Has been in place, where she has sister over a week; prospect of rousing it for cause of abolition is discouraging; recounts at length impressions received at visit in Fort Lee with Theodore and Angelina (Grimké) Weld; Angelina is very feeble; lecturing was too great a strain, and she worked too hard assisting on Slavery as it is. Sarah M. Grimké and Angelina (Grimké) Weld seem to hold that "any other unpopular cause, if espoused by abolitionists, will retard the progress of that cause." Theodore D. Weld is severe upon us, considering non-resistance pernicious in effect on work for emancipation. His attitude seems one of contempt mingled with pity. A.L.S. 4 p. 9 7/8 x 7 3/4 in.

Apr 27 To [Borys Conrad] 1897-?

[Orlestone, near Ashford] Expresses relief at his safety. Had heard from Will Rothenstein that the battery was in the neighborhood of Lassigny. Lunched recently with H. A. L. Fisher, Minister of Education, who was pleased by his reception at young Conrad's mess. Laments careless journalism; London chatter "sounds both absurd and heartless very often."
